SSD HIGHLIGHTS

Self-Development

The Army defines self-development as planned, goal-oriented learning that reinforces and expands the depth and breadth of an individual’s knowledge base, self-awareness, and situational awareness. Self-development will complement what has been learned in the classroom and on the job, enhance professional competence, and help meet personal objectives. There are three types of self-development:

Structured Self-Development

Required learning that continues throughout a career and that is closely linked to and synchronized with classroom and on-the-job learning.

Guided Self-Development

Recommended, but optional learning that will help keep personnel prepared for changing technical, functional, and leadership responsibilities throughout their career.

Personal Self-Development

Self-initiated learning where the individual defines the objective, pace and process.

CURRENT SSD ISSUES AND CONCERNS

• Issues and Concerns
  • SMs can no longer self-enroll into SSD courses. SMs now rely on auto-enrollment triggers. If SM has not been auto-enrolled, push SM info up unit channels to J3 Training Division.

  • SMs not receiving completion credit due to SM not completing SSD end of course (EOC) survey. Ensure SM has completed the EOC survey.

  • If SM has been enrolled, they have 90 days to sign in to ALMS and register or they will be considered a “No-Show” and will need to be identified through proper channels to J3 Training Division to re-enroll.

  • If SM signs in to ALMS and registers within 90 days, SM will then have 24 months to complete course.

  • ATRRS has implemented an SSD Lock which blocks any further NCOES training until the SSD prerequisite has been met. If you feel that this is an error for SM, identify through proper channels to J3 Training Division.
